

The Dirty Bird

News and Editorial

Editor in Chief	Biff Chundersmythe
Managing Editor	Jon Ubuntulinuxplus
News Editor	Answer Hazy. Check Back Later.
Campus Editor	UW Student
City Editor	Ms. Potts
State Editor	Jason Stein
Arts Editors	If you bring the PBR, it's you, man.
Sports Editors	Carl Golden
Features Editors	Juicycampus.com
Food Editor	A 9 oz filet mignon stake, wrapped with lightly cooked bacon, with a light romaine salad lightly touched with a tangy cucumber flavored dressing, complete with a bottle of Chateau le Schalmo from 1969.
Science Editor	Some grad student
Copy Chief	WUT? LULZ!!!11

BEEFING UP THE BEN

Sponsored by: Your mom's kitchen 500 Drury Lane (666) 867-5310

We all know someone who could put on a lot of weight. We're not talking muscle — we are talking straight up gut with the attempt to achieve a belly button resembling a black hole. While no normal person would even consider doing something as insanely stupid as putting on pure fat, we found our guy.

Meet "The Sol."

No, he is not the sun of anything (except his dear mother); he is senior Sports Content Editor Ben Solochek. "Sollie," as he was called by his eighth-grade basketball teammates, hails from Northbrook, Ill., and has an inner passion for sitting on the couch, watching sports and hugging.

Coming out of high school, "Mr. Clown," as he was called by his 5-year-old campers two summers ago, was marginally athletic. He was on his school's swim team and was the starting goalie for the water polo team. Upon arriving in college, he made it his goal to put any ounce of athleticism aside and devote his life to watching college basketball and gaining as much weight as possible. In his senior year, The Badger Herald is going to help this lanky redhead realize his goal by giving him the means to screw the "freshman 15" and shoot for the "college 50."

A sedentary lifestyle and 3 beers a day is the only way to beef up the Ben.

Vitals

Height: 6'2"
Weight: 180
Bratwurst eaten per sitting (BEPS): Two
Beers per Sitting (BPS): 2-10
Body Fat Percentage: Too Low

Week One Goals

- Complete the six-pack and a pound and a six-pack challenge (Entails drinking a six-pack of beer, eating six soft shell tacos and one pound of tater tots in 40 minutes or less) three times.
- Watch every second of March Madness coverage possible without moving from the couch (this includes getting up to use the bathroom, showering or any other activity which expends calories).
- Drive him from his apartment to Van Vleck, to Chemistry to Grainger, and back to his apartment every day.

Quote of the Week

"I'm gonna eat 'cha!"

arts

WILL SOMEONE
PLEASE HELP US?

CAN YOU WRITE?

CAN YOU READ GOOD?

CAN YOU USE A COMPUTER?

WELL THEN YOU ARE MORE THAN QUALIFIED TO JOIN OUR TEAM!

Call us or text us right away. Seriously, we don't mind.

American Idol voting system superior to current methods

TINA CROCKER
Crock-o'-shit

The voting system of "American Idol" should be used for all future polls at the city, state and federal levels of the United States. With an election night performance from presidential contenders hosted by Ryan Seacrest followed by jammed phone lines would make for more exciting elections. More importantly, you should have to work to be able to cast your vote because, after all, voting is important. Surely you've noticed that your elected officials listen to your opinion, right? Well since they work to hear what you have to say, then you should work to give them your opinion.

Just imagine if John McCain got his groove on singing "Stayin' Alive."